

Notice Period Policy

FICTIONAL COMPANY TRAINING MATERIAL · approved wording

What the policy says

Staff who have completed probation give one month's written notice. Staff still on probation give one week. The company gives the same notice it asks for.

How it works day to day

Notice starts the day after written notice is received by the line manager. The manager informs HR the same day so the leaver process can begin (see 'Leaver checklist').

Needs legal review

Payment in lieu of notice has been agreed case by case. No rule is written down and any wording on this must be checked by a qualified adviser.

Still to confirm

Whether pay in lieu is at the company's discretion or the employee's; notice during an extended probation.
