

Probation Policy

FICTIONAL COMPANY TRAINING MATERIAL · approved wording

What the policy says

New staff serve three months of probation. Employment may be confirmed, extended or ended at the end of that period.

How it works day to day

The hiring manager holds a review at six weeks and again before the end of the third month. Outcomes are recorded on the probation review form and sent to HR.

Needs legal review

Probation has been extended informally in some cases. The length of an extension, who approves it, and how many times it may happen are not written down. Any wording on ending employment during probation must be checked by a qualified adviser.

Still to confirm

Maximum extension length; approver for an extension; notice period during an extension.